

327 B.C.

Both consuls informed the senate that there were very slender hopes of peace with the Samnites. Publius informed them that 2,000 troops from NOLA and 4,000 Samnites had been admitted into Palaepolis more under pressure from Nola than by the desire of the Greeks.

they sent ambassadors before declaring war. the Samnites sent an insolent reply. they actually accused the

the Romans of aggression and did not neglect to attempt to refute the charges made against themselves.

327BC & 304BC

2nd or 3rd Samnite War

327 BC

Alexander the Great invades
India

327Bc

Alexander marries Roxana.

327 BC

Second or Great Samnite War begins (to 304 BC)

327 BC - 304 BC

Renewal of war between Rome and SAMNITES.

327 - 325 BC

Alexander in India.